MILLION TO BE SPENT ON IMPROVED WHARFAGE AT FIJI

The big sugar and other agricultural interests in the Fiji have succeeded in winning their hard struggle for better and more modern wharfage facilities at Suva, the port of entry for Canadian-Australian liners, according to a story brought to Honolulu by the arrival of the steamer Marana.

For years the several lines of steamers making Suva in the course of direct trade, with neighboring islands, the Colonies and the Pacific Coast of the United States and British Columbia have been sorely handicapped because of the inadequate wharfage.

The Fijian government has settled upon a plan for the betterment of the system of wharves there. The whole scheme of wharfage, when built, will cost about $775,000. The first portion is estimated to cost about $550,000. From inquiries made, the traffic will be quite warranted this expenditure, and a very satisfactory return is expected.

According to statements made by officers of the Marana, the accommodation there at present consists of a causeway of timber-work running out from the mainland and terminating in two wharves in the shape of an L. The inner wharf is very small, and can accommodate small vessels alone. The outer one is larger, but not sufficient to provide a secure place either for large vessels, such as the Marana, to lay alongside of, or even on the wharf to deal with cargo. The purpose is to make a broadside wharf in a new position, 2000 feet long, and reclaim the land between it and the shore—approximately 30 acres. It is intended to construct 1100 feet of this wharf, the remaining 900 feet to be made later. The reclaimed land will be of great value to Suva, as there is very little level land in the place, and the hills rise almost directly from the water's edge. The preliminaries in connection with this work were all arranged at an interview with the governor and the commissioner for works.

It is the general belief expressed on board the Marana that there are no engineering difficulties to contend with. The mode of construction is similar to that which the Sydney Harbor Trust is carrying out at Woolloomooloo Bay. The Cobra borer is worse in the island than around Sydney, so that it is not considered safe to construct the wharves at Suva with turpentine piles—which are considered almost proof against the Cobra borer there—without some protection. This will be effected by reinforced concrete placed over the piles, the spaces being filled with loose concrete.

All the labor on the wharves is done by Fijians, but the labor that is used on the farms, and which will be employed in constructing the wharves, will be Indian coolies. The Indian population is increasing rapidly, but the Fijians are on the down grade. The two classes of people seem to work amicably with one another.

That the new wharves are to be built in anticipation of the operation of two new Canadian-Australian liners, of much larger tonnage than the Marana, the Zealandia or the Makura, is a foregone conclusion.

The first section of the work will probably take from two to two and a half years, and the remainder, if taken in hand immediately, another one and a half years, or four years altogether. When completed the wharves will provide accommodation for four vessels of about 10,000 tons each. The reclaimed area will be of considerable value in connection with a proposed railway the Fijian government is very anxious to construct between Suva and the Rewa and Mainimela rivers.

The place being tropical, growth is naturally very great, the chief products being sugar, bananas and coconuts. The reason the capital was changed from Levuka to Suva was due apparently to the better harbor and the greater quantity of land suitable for erecting commercial houses.

The prediction was made during the stay of the Marana at Honolulu that large shipments of material for the proposed wharves would soon be forwarded from both Vancouver as well as Sydney, in the Canadian-Australian liners. Already the authorities are seeking dredging machinery in order to commence the great work.

In addition to being replete with facilities for the prompt handling of all classes of freight, both inward and outward, oil fuel will be used. The steamers will be from 6500 to 7000 tons register, and according to designs will be able to carry 6000 tons of merchandise, although the main idea is the lumber trade, for which they will be eminently suited. The steamers will go to Australia direct from the coast, Sydney and Melbourne being the ports decided to go on to date. The first of them will be dispatched in October next, the others following at regular intervals.

New N. Y. K. Steamer on Malden Voyage.

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha steamship Shizuoka Maru, a sister ship of the steamship Yokohama Maru, which started from Yokohama on her maiden trip in the American service, the early part of June, has also left on her maiden voyage.

The Shizuoka Maru was launched on the 3rd of March from the Kawasaki dockyards at Kobe, and has been in the process of fitting and finishing since. The vessel carried a full cabin list for Seattle and a heavy cargo.

As the Shizuoka left her moorings several hundred persons were engaged in a demonstration, and as she steamed out in the stream she was greeted with hundreds of "bon voyages" from friends of passengers and the company.

Rennie's Death Greatly Mourned.

The last sad rites over the remains of Alfred G. Rennie, at one time purser in the Pacific Mail service, and at the time of his death General Passenger agent for the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, were conducted at San Francisco amid a large gathering of sorrowing friends on Monday, July 8th, according to statements made this morning by officers in the Tenyo Maru. The pallbearers included men prominent in steamship and transportation circles on the coast. They were: L. E. Bemiss, Claude H. King, William Chisholm, Captain John E. Rinder, A. D. G. Kerrell and Albert J. Porter. Rennie's demise cast a pall of gloom over steamship circles, in which he was held in high esteem, and many were the sincere words of regret expressed on every hand.

ODDS AND ENDS AT THE PORT

A later mainland mail arrived from San Francisco this morning in the Japanese liner Tenyo Maru.

The Oceanic steamship Sierra, to arrive at Honolulu on next Monday morning is bringing the next mail from San Francisco.

The next mail for the mainland will be forwarded in the Pacific liner Siberia leaving Honolulu for San Francisco on next Tuesday.

Mail and passengers leaving this port on July 4th in the Pacific Mail steamship Mongolia reached Yokohama, the first port in Japan on last Monday.

A fair list of passengers and general cargo will be taken in the steamer W. G. Hall that is scheduled to sail for Kauai ports at five o'clock this evening.

Two hundred Asiatic steamer passengers will depart for Japan and China ports in the Tenyo Maru, sailing from Alakea wharf at five o'clock this afternoon.

The Matsun Navigation steamer Lurline taking passengers and mail from Honolulu destined for San Francisco, arrived at the coast port at 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

Taking general cargo, the interisland steamer Wallele sailed shortly after noon today for Honolulu, Paauilo and Paohau. This vessel carried later mail to Hawaii ports.

The interisland steamer Kauai has been placed on the berth to sail for Kohala, Paauilo, Kukuia, Oohala and Laupahoehoe at five o'clock this afternoon taking cargo only.
